

🦅 ÁGUILA FERAL

- 📍 Monterrey, Nuevo León, Mexico
 - 📏 6'1"
 - ⚖️ 215 lbs
 - 🎂 Age: Unknown
 - ⭐ Debut: 2011 (Noche Roja Underground)
 - 📄 Contract Status: Freelance – Appearance Deal
-

🔥 Overview

There's a name whispered in the Noche Roja lucha scene that's as feared as it is revered: Águila Feral — The Wild Eagle. Known for his brutality, unrelenting speed, and an aura closer to folklore than fame, Feral is less a man and more a weapon in the ring.

With a mask inspired by pre-Columbian gods and Mexican horror folklore, Águila Feral blends tradition with intimidation.

He doesn't play to crowds.

He doesn't speak in interviews.

He only hunts.

In-Ring Style & Persona

- Strikes with sudden, animalistic violence
 - Combines lucha libre flight with MMA-level takedowns
 - Works matches like rituals — punishing, symbolic, and without mercy
 - Known to target injured limbs with precision and cruelty
-

Signature Traits

- The mask is a sacred heirloom, passed through his bloodline — said to be “fed” by pain
 - Rarely removes gear post-match; remains in character long after the bell
 - Wrestlers who face him often leave with long layoffs or unexplained absences in local promotions
-

Finishing Move

Alarido Mortal (Mortal Screech) – A springboard twisting knee to the skull, delivered without warning, often after luring his opponent into overconfidence

Notable Appearances

- CFW: Reclamation – Defeated Lucas Knox in a brutal, cold-blooded display. Post-match, left without celebrating or acknowledging the crowd.
 - Banned in three lucha federations for excessive violence in non-title matches
 - Multiple “unofficial” appearances under aliases across Latin America and the Southern U.S.
-

Quote (translated by others)

“He’s not wrestling. He’s cleansing.” – Anonymous former opponent