

Callaghan

 London, England

 6'1"

 232 lbs

Overview

Once one of the most beloved and respected wrestlers in the business, Callaghan was known for his grit, heart, and ability to outlast anyone.

He was a main event staple until the years caught up with him.

Now, he's a shadow of that man.

Callaghan shows up and fights hard when it matters, but often looks like he's just going through the motions. Rumors swirl about his drinking and loss of passion. He doesn't care about the spotlight anymore... or at least that's what he tells himself. Deep down, though, there's something still burning.

Every now and then, in flashes, the old Callaghan returns. The fighter. The crowd favorite. The man who refuses to stay down. Those moments remind everyone, including himself, just how great he once was.

Style

Brawler / Power

Works on wisdom and instinct rather than high flying.

Wrestler's Look

Greying beard. Disheveled appearance. Carries himself like a man who has lost his passion for the sport, but still shows signs of life when the fans cheer or good things happen.

Finishing Moves

Final Round

Sit out spinebuster with impact emphasis.

Blackout Driver

Double underhook piledriver. Rarely used. "Break glass" finisher.

Signature Moves

Dockside Drop

Snap DDT out of nowhere.

Mersey Uppercut

Brutal spinning European uppercut.

Last Orders Lariat

Devastating running lariat, often used during a comeback.

Music

"Glitter and Gold" by Barns Courtney
